And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

As far as we know, Hamlin survived the Christmas weekend without losing anyone to a traffic accident, and we hope that we can say the same following the coming long weekend.

The two long weekends combined are expected to kill an estimated 87 people on this state's highways. While it appears that we did a little better than expected over Christmas, we still have New Year's to go.

When you stop and think about 87 people dying on the streets and highways in Texas alone, you wonder why these bleeding hearts that get so unreasonable about our involvement in Vietnam and its cost in human lives don't join in the fight to cut down on our traffic deaths.

The annual toll of traffic deaths is so high that it has to be one of our major problems, but it doesn't seem to draw as much concern as some of the more popular problems such as pollution and the war in Southeast Asia.

The main trouble with solving our traffic problem is that the solutions are so unpopular. With speed and drinking the two biggest causes of traffic deaths the only answer appears to be more and better enforcement since it is apparent that the public is unwilling to control themselves.

And this is unpopular with the otherwise law abiding citizens. While it has been proven that speed kills we still have not been able to convince most of us average drivers of this fact. Most of us continue to want to stretch the speed limits at every opportunity.

We have never known of a social drinker that felt that he had had one too many for the road. And getting these people off the highway is a very difficult task because they all too often have just enough control to avoid being picked up but not enough to avoid trouble in an emergency. Too many times someone is already dead before they are spotted.

If you think picking up people for DWI is not unpopular, just check with our local police department. They are doing as good a job as they can in keeping this type of people off our city streets and are receiving more than their share of abuse for their efforts.

We are not saying that everyone who speeds or drinks is going to kill someone, but we do maintain that they are bucking the odds and everyone's odds of surviving on our highways are better if these two types are kept under control.

If you drive this weekend please use extra caution and care. We would like to have you for a reader again next year.

Although we have nearly a year to work on it, now is the time for the merchants and businessmen of Hamlin to start thinking about new Christmas decorations. The ones we have are just about worn out and are beginning to look pretty ragged.

This probably should be one of the first orders of business for next year's retail trade committee of the Board of Community Development. It is one of those things that must be started early or else you find that you have waited too long.

To our Old and
New Friends a Happy New Year

Rev. W. A. Hodge moved here this week from Woodward, Okla., to assume the pastorate of the United Pentecostal Church, succeeding Rev. A. P. Tipton who has moved to Amarillo.

Rev. Hodge filled the pulpit Sunday. He and his wife, Edna Lorene, have one married son, Walter A. Hodge Jr., who lives in Perryton.

County Agent Gives Tips On Supplemental Feeding

With current soil moisture and grazing situations not too good, supplemental feeding of the beef herd is likely to be mighty important during the next few months.

According to County Agent Kirby Clayton, cattlemen should be able to save both time and money by feeding protein supplement twice a week rather than each day.

Texas A&M University tests have shown that cattle fed protein supplement twice a week performed just as well as those fed each day. The result from the twice weekly feeding was about a 60 percent saving in labor and travel. This method of feeding, says the county agent, doesn't necessarily mean feeding less supplement, just feeding more less frequently.

During the cold winter months, he notes, cattle need plenty of forage for the production of body heat. A low quality forage that is high in fiber is a good feed for storm periods, because of the high body heat generated from digesting the fiber in the roughage.

A well-fed cow, notes Clayton, can withstand low temperatures. Researchers say the critical temperature is just above the point at which cattle begin to shiver. A cow on a fasting diet, or without any feed, reaches a critical temperature at about 55 degrees F. A maintenance ration lowers the critical temperature to about 23 degrees F. With an increase in feed consumption, the critical temperature drops.

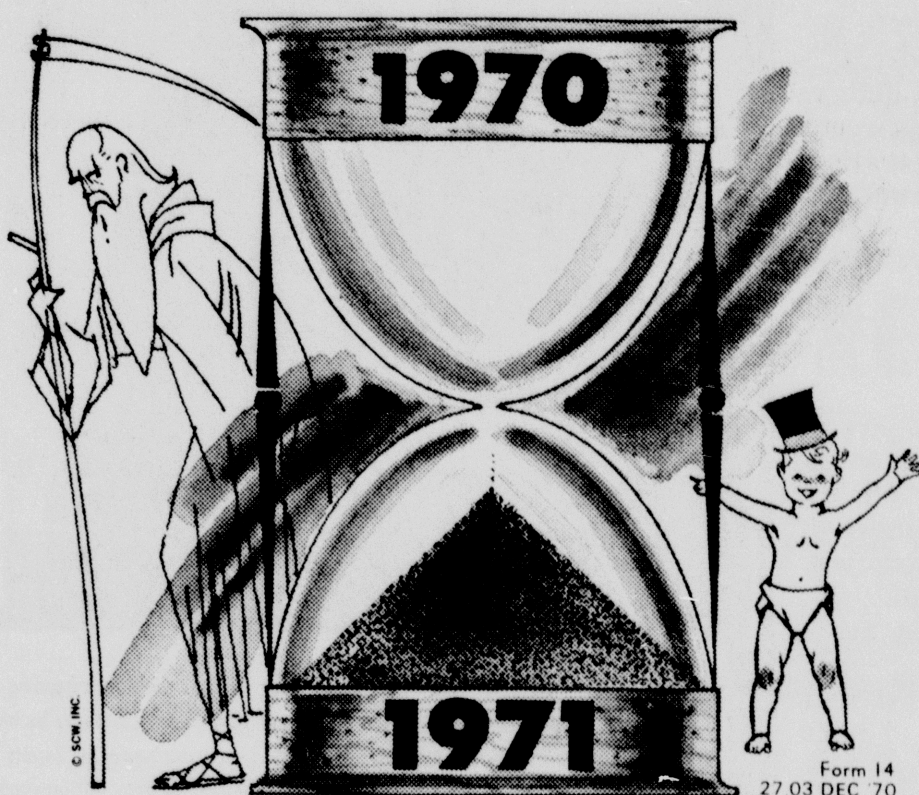

Wet hair and an increase in wind velocity raise the critical temperature drops and thus increase the amount of feed required for body heat production by the animal.

Good dividends can be expected, concludes the county agent, if cattle are well-fed during the winter stress months.

News deadline is noon Tuesday.

Shira Named 'Coach of Year'

Charles Norris Shira, a graduate of Hamlin High School in 1943 and presently head coach at Mississippi State University, was named The Associated Press Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year for 1970.

Shira, 43, headed the University of Texas defense for 10 years before moving to Mississippi State four years ago. He fielded MSU's first winning team since 1963 and only its second in the last 13 years.

The son of Mrs. Ezra Shira of Hamlin, Shira played fullback for Hamlin High School. He went to Texas A&M on a football scholarship and while there received an appointment to West Point. He was a star tackle at the U. S. Military Academy.

After receiving his degree from Mississippi State he played professional football in the Canadian League.

He is married to the former Bernadette Henyon of Saddle River, N. J. They have six children, four girls and two boys. The oldest is a high school senior.

When Shira was a starting tackle for Col. Red Blalke's Army Cadets in 1949 and 1950, Army ranked among the nation's top teams. He was named All-American tackle while at West Point.

Shira won the SEC Coach of the Year in voting by the AP's seven-member Southeastern All-American Advisory Board of football, beating out 1969 Coach of the Year Charles McClendon of Louisiana State and Tennessee's Bill Ballis, the young-

Major Changes Made In Welfare Program for 1971

The new year will see three major changes in the State Department of Public Welfare operation.

Welfare Commissioner Burton G. Hackney announced the following changes due for implementation on January 4:

1. Use of a simplified eligibility application in the adult programs of Old Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind, and Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled; and a "client-completed" form in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program.

2. A switch in social services from meeting long-term needs to meeting short-range, specific goals.

3. A change in staffing patterns to allow the Department to meet the caseload explosion with available personnel.

The simplified method for determining eligibility works much like the declaration system for income tax.

The applicant fills out the form himself, eliminating the need for a face-to-face interview with a caseworker.

Dr. Everett Gibson Jr. to Direct Study Of Lunar Material From Apollo 14 Mission

Editor's note: The following feature story which appeared in the Dec. 27 issue of the Abilene Reporter-News was written by Danny Lammert, a graduate of Old Glory High School.

Dr. Everett Gibson, Jr., whose parents live in Hamlin, will head a group of scientists who will study the lunar material brought back from the moon by Apollo 14.

Dr. Gibson is Mission Science Advisor to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory for the Apollo 14 mission. The scheduled launch date for Apollo 14 is Jan. 31.

After material from the lunar surface arrives in Houston on Feb. 12, Gibson will become the test director for the Apollo mission.

About 350 people work at LRL, with about 40 scientists and 40 technicians from the U. S. and throughout the world.

Gibson is returning to Houston Sunday to aid in preparing the lab for receiving the material.

"The basic problem we will have is being ready to handle the amount of material Apollo 14 will bring from the moon," he said.

It is estimated that Apollo 14 will return almost twice the material that 12 and 13 were to gather combined. Preliminary examinations are scheduled to complete by April 4.

After the preliminary examinations, about 40 percent of the material will leave NASA to be studied at world. Each of these labs 150 laboratories around the specialize in different fields. It is estimated that less than 10 per cent of the material will be destroyed in scientific studies. Residue will be retained.

Apollo 14 will have Alan Shepherd, America's first astronaut, Edgar Mitchell and Stewart Roosa as astronauts. Shepherd and Mitchell are scheduled for the moon landing while Roosa will orbit the command ship.

Their 30-36 hour stay on the moon's surface will include two 5-hour "moon walks." One will be to primarily set up a research station to study moon quakes, atmosphere and magnetic fields.

The geological walk will gather 190-200 pounds of moon soil. Samples will be documented. That is, a photo will be taken of a sample prior to taking and also of the spot it had occupied. Also included in plans are core samples.

Gibson explains that these tell the history of the moon surface. A one-foot core recorded 16 distinct layers. brought back with Apollo 12 It is hoped that Apollo 14 will be able to bring back a four-foot core sample.

Apollo 14 is to land about 150 kilometers (60-70 miles) east of the spot where Apollo 12 landed. The point is called Frau Mauro and it is believed the oldest material is located here, possibly 4.5 billion years or older.

Dr. Gibson also participated in preliminary examination of Apollo 12 lunar material. He studied the material and aided in determining its composition and chemical makeup.

Gibson missed the 21-day quarantine placed on 10 Apollo 12 scientists by approximately five minutes. "I had been in the room but happened to step out right before the 'spill' occurred."

A 1958 graduate of Hamlin High School, Gibson is a geochemist for NASA at Houston.

After receiving his bachelor's and master's degrees in chemistry at Texas Tech University in 1963 and 1965, respectively, Gibson obtained his doctor's degree in geochemistry in 1969 at Arizona State University in Tempe, Ariz.

He came to NASA by way of a one-year fellowship in post-doctoral work. After that year was completed, he received an appointment to remain at NASA in October.

Gibson has also studied earth rocks. For the last four summers he has led field trips down the Colorado River through the Grand Canyon. He has led more than 200 scientists over the 310 mile two week trip. In the winter of 1972, a trip on the headwaters of the Amazon River in Peru is planned.

Gibson's father is a retired warehouse manager and district field clerk for the Texas Pacific Oil Co. His mother has taught school in Abilene, Hamlin and Aspermont and is now Supervisor of Schools in Jones County.

FROM THE FILES . . .

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
(December 25, 1925)

This is to call your attention to the fact that it is against the City Ordinances, of the City of Hamlin, for any person to fire, discharge, or set off any fire arms or fire works within the fire limits of the City of Hamlin, and I beg the fathers and mothers that you caution your children concerning this ordinance, and that it is not only dangerous as to fire, but some child may be seriously injured.

And I also ask that you caution your children in the use of their fire works in the resident portion of town, as it may be the means of preventing the loss of your home and furnishings, and preventing other serious fires.

Jno. C. Turner, Mayor.
Tuesday about one o'clock, fire almost completely destroyed the dairy house of the Gassaway Dairy in North Hamlin. The dairy is on the outskirts of the fire limits and there was no way of connecting the hose to fight the fire. However there was a tank that had connection with a small line, and this was full of water, thus enabling those who help fight the fire to do effective work and save the residence from burning. Although there was considerable damage, the dairy was able to take care of all customers that night.

The Hamlin High School Alumni Association will hold its Fourth Annual Banquet the thirty-first of Dec., the regular date this year, announced Roy Wilson, President, yesterday. For the past three years the attendance has numbered between twenty and twenty-five, but a large number is expected this year.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
(December 29, 1950)

Hamlin's Elementary School band performed in assembly programs for both the Elementary and High Schools last week.

Opening concert for this year was held last Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. in the Elementary auditorium; followed by the performance at the High School last Thursday at 1:30 p.m.

Several parents were in attendance both times, and the young musicians were received warmly, a report to The Herald stated.

Excitement reigned in the neighborhood of Mrs. Vera Nobles Thursday when her automobile went on a tour that was not personally conducted.

Mrs. Nobles had driven the car from her garage and left the motor running while she returned to her house to prepare for the trip to the business district. While she was engaged in the house, the hydramatic drive became engaged and Mrs. Nobles emerged from her home to find her car gone.

A frantic search found the car obstinately trying to climb the curb fronting the Joe Culbertson home after it had followed a meandering course to those premises.

As a result of the National Emergency the State Highway Commission was announced that Jones County part will be on the U. S. Highway 180 from the Fisher County line to Anson, a distance of approximately 15 miles.

The State Highway Engineer is directed to proceed in the most feasible and economical manner with the work of placing a seal coating on the strip.

A total of 179 counties are to receive projects which will cost $7,-885,000 for 3,100 miles of betterment and maintaining existing roads and to forestall their deterioration. This includes no new construction.

TEN YEARS AGO
(December 29, 1960)

At a free Christmas party hosted by the Hamlin Volunteer Firemen and the Hamlin Theatres held at 10 a.m. Friday, Sally Carlton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Carlton, was the winner of a girl's bicycle.

An early morning highway accident claimed the life of a 58-year old Travis, Texas truck driver Thursday two miles south of here on U. S. Highway 283.

A $230,000 building program which includes a sanctuary and chapel was approved recently by the congregation of the First Baptist Church. The present church building and educational building will be incorporated with the new structure. Architects for the building are Welch and Hampton of Sweetwater. Also included in the building program is a new parsonage to be located on West Lake Drive at Southwest Avenue H.

Texas railroads paid $21,527 in taxes in Jones county during 1959, according to the Texas Railroad Association.

That amount was the county's share of the nearly $10,000,000 the railroads paid throughout the state.

In addition, of course, was the large total in taxes the railroad's approximately 40,000 Texas employees contributed on their own property. The vast majority of railroad workers, many of whom live in Jones county own their own homes.

The largest railroad contribution in Jones County was for the support of education. The school tax for 1959 totaled $13,559.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Neinda Philosopher Has A Prescription
For Improving the Country, Maybe, In 1971

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One has a prescription for 1971.

Dear editor:
Along about this time of year it's customary to try to look ahead and predict what's going to happen in the next twelve months, or anything to get your mind off what happened in the last twelve, but the prediction business is in poor standing these days, nothing seems to turn out the way the experts forecast, from Viet Nam to the economy to the football season, so I thought I'd switch.

Instead of saying what's going to happen, I'd like to suggest what ought to happen.

And if you put it in one sentence, what the world needs most in 1971 is to re-discover the ability to kid itself.

Everybody takes everything too seriously, from college students to world statesmen. All the leaders are afraid they're going to say the wrong thing or pick up the wrong fork. They have the idea everything you do has to be exactly right, everything you say has to be written down in advance.

Why, if they receive an award or a testimonial and all they need to say is thank you, they pull out a paper and read it off: "I thank you."

Nobody ever admits he has a crop failure, politically speaking. If a commission, after spending a year and a million dollars, criticizes some program, the program director claims the criticism basically was complimentary. Right now, both parties are still claiming they each came

Three Charged
Here With DWI

Charges against three persons have been filed this week following arrests for driving while intoxicated (DWI).

Charges were filed Monday against Bernardo G. Gutierrez, 32, as a result of the 3:45 a.m. arrest Sunday made by Patrolman Jimmy Ratliff. Bond was set at $750 by Justice of the Peace John Barnett. He was released.

Also filed Monday were charges against Willie James Hooper, 42, after an arrest here at 3:50 a.m. Sunday by Patrolman Ratliff. He was released on $750 bond, set by JP Barnett.

Filed Tuesday were charges of DWI against Proctor W. St. Clair, 61, after an arrest here at 2:20 a.m. Tuesday. He is free on $750 bond set by JP Barnett.

out ahead in the November elections.

One time, I read once, one of President Lincoln's cabinet members came to him privately and said another cabinet member had said the President was a fool for taking a certain action, figuring Lincoln would fire the man outright for such disloyalty, but Lincoln, without having to research the matter and read his answer from a script, said, "You know, the more I think about what I did, the more I'm afraid he's right."

Anybody can laugh at what a humorist says, but the measure of a real man is his ability to laugh at himself.

I'm not saying this is going to happen in 1971, but it might be a good prescription for the whole world. See you next week, not quite so seriously.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.
